

ETERNO

A legendary figure in Ribera del Duero, Isaac Fernandez learnt to make wine as a teenager at Vega Sicilia under the wing of his uncle Mariano Garcia. Now the winemaker at Neo, Valderiz, Mauro, Uvaguilera and Arrocal amongst many other projects, Isaac is one of the most sought after winemakers in Spain. The fruit for this wine is sourced from old vineyards in Gumiel de Mercado owned by our good friend Rodrigo Calvo Arroyo (Bodegas Arrocal) and see eight months in French and American oak.

REGION

The Ribera del Duero is regarded as one of Spain's best regions for the production of high quality Tempranillo. It is a difficult region with moderate to low rainfall (450 mm per year), arid summers, with temperatures of up to 40°C, and long, harsh winters, with temperatures reaching as low as -18°C. There are also marked variations in temperature within each season, and diurnal fluctuations of over 20 °C. The climate may be said to be a mixture of continental and Mediterranean, with more than 2,400 hours of sunlight.
